COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Citizens are reminded that the names of taxpayers who have not paid their 1977 property taxes as of Dec. 20 will be printed in the Annual Town Report. To date 86% of 1977 property taxes have been paid.

On Monday evening, Dec. 19, a Special Town Meeting was held at the Bethel Fire Station, with a very small attendance. William Cousins was elected as Moderator for the meeting. Under article two, $9,217.24 in Federal Anti-Recessionary Funds were appropriated for Winter Roads. Under article three, funds from unappropriated surplus were appropriated to the following accounts to cover unanticipated expenditures in 1977: Roads & Bridges, $1,000; Road Construction, $5,000; Insurance, $1,500; Winter Roads, $8,000; and General Assistance, $3,500.

The Board of Selectmen met in special session Monday, Dec. 19, at 6:45 p. m. before the Special Town Meeting. The Manager informed the Board of a request from Sunday River Skiway to purchase the remainder of 300 yards of winter sand originally to be sold to a local contractor for use at Sunday River. The Board voted to sell the sand to Sunday River at $4.65 per yard plus loading costs. It was also stipulated that all the sand must be removed within the next two weeks.

Seven bids were received for the purchase of timber at the Town Farm. After review of bid prices against estimated volumes of timber to be removed, the Board voted to award the bid to the highest bidder, Malcolm Gross. Other bids were received from Elgin Tibbetts, Jeff Davis, Rex Thurston, Philip Korhonen, Wilbur Myers, and Leslie Robertson. The Manager was directed to work with Mr. Gross and the Town's Forest Consultant, Kerry Hunkins, to draft a timber sale agreement for approval by the Board at their next meeting.

The next Assessors meeting will be Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1978, and the next Selectmen's meeting will be Tuesday, Dec. 27.

The Town Office will be closed Monday, Dec. 26, and Monday, Jan. 2, as both Christmas and New Years fall on Sunday this year. The Board of Selectmen and all Town Employees wish everyone a safe and happy Christmas and New Year.

There's more, much more to Christmas
Than candle-light and cheer:
It's the spirit of sweet friendship,

It's thoughtfulness and kindness,
It's hope reborn again,
For peace and understanding,
And for goodwill to men!

WATER DISTRICT RECEIVES BIDS FOR EDA PROJECT

The Bethel Water District received two bids, Wednesday, Dec. 21, for new water line work to be funded by a recent Economic Development Administration Grant. Low bidder was Bancroft Contracting Co. of South Paris with a bid of $73,500. The other bidder was Bridge Construction Co. of Augusta with a bid of $116,300.

Bids are being reviewed by the District's consulting engineer, Al Hodsdon of Waterville. Assuming all items are in order, a contract signing is planned for Dec. 27, 1977 with work to begin the following day.

Under this grant from EDA, which is 100% funded by the Federal Government, the Water District will be putting in new and larger mains on Chapman Street, Mason Street and Crescent Park Street. A new eight inch main will run from the Crescent Park School to Mason Street, then out Mason Street to Chapman Street and then down Chapman Street to Main Street. Also proposed is a new four inch main on Mason Street from the corner of Crescent Park to approximately Spring Street where it will tie into a four inch main coming in from Broad Street. These new mains will significantly increase the flow of water in the village area and thus provide for much improved fire protection.

Under the grant requirements, work must start on the project within 90 days of the grant award. This means work must start next week. It is anticipated that work will start next week and that construction will then be stopped until spring because of winter conditions.

Fudge then read the call to worship and the program continued alternately, with readings by students Evie De-frees, Glen Dwyer, Brooke Bovard and Robin Sprague, songs by the girls quartet, a solo "O Holy Night" by Robin Sprague, selections by both the combined Chorus and the madrigal singers and more Christmas carols by everyone. NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES TO BE RECEIVED SOON—SOME CHANGES IN LISTING METHOD

Telephone customers of Continental Telephone of Maine are receiving in the mail this week copies of the new telephone directory. There have been some changes in method of listing which should be noted by area citizens. One major difference is that new all schools in S. A. D. #44, will be found under School Administrative District #44 in the S's. For example, one desiring to call Andover or Woodstock Elementary School will find the number in the S. A. D. #44 listing, rather than under the town names as they were previously.

Customers are also reminded that several other numbers have been changed and are urged to consult their directories before dialing. Some familiar and frequently called business phones in the area may be different. Save time and tempers by looking it up!

West Bethel

—Mrs. Lona Gilbert, Corres.—

This week starting on Monday morning, temperatures around 20° and cloudy, light snow flurries in this area. On Dec. 14 we had a foot or more of snow followed by a freezing rain. Kept snowplows and sand trucks busy. I believe all Bethel roads have been kept in good condition according to reports.

The annual Bethel Living Nativity was presented Sunday evening, Dec. 18, on the Common, Bethel. The Holy Family was represented by Karen and Eric Paul and their little son, Aaron, of West Bethel.

All children in the area are looking forward to Friday, Dec. 23 when schools will recess for the Christmas vacation.

Some here in town have shoveled off the roofs of some of their buildings on account of the heavy weight of snow and by reports more snow is predicted.

If any one wishes to join the carol singers on Friday evening, Dec. 23, be at the church at 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morse of Norway were visitors this past week at Mrs. Clara Rolfe's. Mrs. Rolfe reported 20 or more pine grosbeaks at her place recently.

They are a beautiful bird especially the males with a lot of red on body and wings. They are natives of Maine and some other of the New England States. There are several different species of grosbeaks in the U. S. besides the pine, evening grosbeaks, the rose breasted grosbeaks, the blue grosbeaks, and others. Reportedly in the State of Virginia they have a cardinal grosbeak, a fine songster, and often seen in cages. In South Africa is one known as the social grosbeak who builds a huge roof in a large tree beneath which sometimes as many as 300 pairs of birds are lodged.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilbert, Mrs. George Stowell and I were in Shirley, Mass., Saturday, Dec. 17, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Stowell and family. We found them all well. The weather was very good and traveling conditions excellent.

The Cummings and Lovejoys attended the Oxford County Council, American Legion and Auxiliary meeting in Locke Mills Tuesday night. Cleve Lovejoy took his Lowry organ and played for the carol singing that followed the exchange of gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cummings were in South Paris on Thursday to pick up their new glasses at Dr. Hall's. Cathryn Lovejoy joined them to shop and have lunch at Barjo's. They also called at Ledgeview Memorial Home.

Cathryn Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and Dot Halo were in Berlin, N. H., on Friday.

Ellen Lovejoy, with Shane and Gramp Cummings were shopping on Saturday.

The Ray Wests, Rumford, called at the Cleve Lovejoy's Sunday evening.

Organist Cleve Lovejoy played for a dance Saturday evening at Locke Mills.

Bethel Hosts Outward Bound Again

Three years after Hurricane Island Outward Bound School of Rockland, Maine, moved the base of operation of its winter course from the Greenville area to Bethel. Last year the Sunday River Inn kindly allowed the school to use their basement at the beginning and end of each course, which greatly facilitated the process of issuing and returning the incredible amount of equipment necessary for a ten day snow shoeing and skiing trip in the Mahosuc Mountains.

This year the school plans to do the same thing, and as it establishes itself more permanently in this area, it may be valuable for the people of Bethel to learn something of the history, aims, objectives and process of Outward Bound. The name Outward Bound is a trade name: there are many imitators, and the expression has become synonymous with outdoor education in general. But the Outward Bound movement is an international one: it has its roots in Britain, and today there are over thirty separate schools throughout the world. The United States has six of them.

At the beginning of the Second World War, Britain was losing much of its shipping to enemy submarine activity. As a result, many sailors were being cast adrift in extreme conditions, and a look at the survival rates indicated a strange statistic: many of the younger (16-20 year old) sailors were perishing where their older comrades were surviving. No one could suggest why this should be so, except that it seemed to be linked to increased determination, will power, courage, and perseverance, borne of experience although there was no easy explanation, the Merchant Navy was concerned enough to consult some eminent psychologists and educators. Amongst these was Kurt Hahn.

Hahn was a German-born educator who had come to Britain in the early nineteen thirties, having been headmaster of Salem, a top rate German private school. In Britain (precisely, in Scotland) Hahn had established Gordonstoun, which still enjoys a reputation as one of Britain's most prestigious private schools (both the Duke of Edinburgh and the future King attended it). Hahn's premise was certain qualities—tenacity, curiosity, awareness of one's strengths, and compassion for others—could be fostered through wilderness experience. These principles formed the cornerstone of the Gordonstoun School, and Hahn suggested the establishment of a course based on the same philosophy for young merchant seamen.

Accordingly, at Aberdovey in Wales, the first Outward Bound School came into being. The name was chosen because it is symbolic of the time when a ship heaves its anchors and leaves the safety of the harbor for the open sea—at such a time, sailors say the ship is "Outward Bound". Today, of course, the symbolism is still poignant, but at the time it had special significance for the young sailors. The course designed was a challenging 28 days in the rugged Welsh Mountains interspersed with expeditions in small open boats on the equally rugged coast. The young men were up early in the morning, running and dipping in the sea, climbing vertical rock faces, doing ropes courses, and were constantly confronted with new challenges to overcome. The theory was that if they succeeded here, in a controlled situation, then the lessons learned would help them to overcome a far more serious—perhaps life-threatening—situation later on.

From those beginnings has emerged the international organization of today. With no more sinkings by submarine (thankfully—or maybe hopefully) the teaching of strict survival skills is not important. But the other things learned by experience on an Outward Bound course—an increased awareness of oneself and other people, self confidence, determination, trust in and compassion for other people, curiosity, an awareness of the environment—these things are still highly relevant. Perhaps, in today's confused, struggling automated world, these basics are even more vital than ever before. In that broad sense, Outward Bound teaches survival, but it is important to explode the myth of a living-off-the-land Marine Corps-basic-training type organization.

American involvement began in 1962 when a school was started in Colorado. 1964 saw Hurricane Island—one of the Fox Islands in the Penobscot Bay—used as a base for a sea oriented program. Students lived on a combination of Hurricane and other islands, on the beautiful and wild coast, and travelled in 30 foot completely open boats, powered only by sail and a set of oars. Mid way through the course, each person was given minimum food and minimal equipment and was left alone for a period of three days generally on their own island; the concept of "solo", so much an American invention within Outward Bound, became a vital part of the experience.

Hurricane Island Outward Bound School has grown to the point where over one thousand students took the full 26 day summer course in 1977. Six years ago, a winter course was started in Greenville—that course is the one now in Bethel. Outward Bound has been adapted for many different needs—in particular, that of dealing with delinquent youth. Hurricane Island has successfully set up programs for juvenile offenders in places as far afield as Boston, New York, and Jacksonville, Florida. The program in Jacksonville enjoys a success rate far in advance of other juvenile treatment centers, and has been used as a model for that sort of rehabilitation on numerous occasions.

That, then, is a brief look at how Outward Bound in general and Hurricane Island specifically, came into being and have developed since. For a closer look at the involvement with Bethel during the winter we need to go back to the Sunday River Inn, and imagine ourselves in the shoes of either Steve or Peggy Wright on each alternate Monday in January, February or March.

On those days, around twenty people arrive at the Inn and ask directions to the Outward Bound Course. Peggy or Steve point toward the basement, and with a slightly amused expression answer, "Down there!" As the person descends the stairs, he or she is confronted with an amazing and baffling amount of equipment. After introductions—to other participants and staff—and explanations on tents, sleeping bags, packs, enamel pails, stoves, parkas, and all the other equipment, and when all this gear has been carefully packed into bulging back packs, each person is fitted with a pair of cross country skis and snowshoes. By this time, two separate groups of about nine participants and two instructors have been formed, and by nightfall each group has walked or skied about a mile, and all are struggling with the intricacies of establishing a camp: erecting tents, finding water, making a fire, cooking and generally making themselves comfortable.

On that first day there is much to be done and little time for reflection or pause for thought of the, "What am I doing here?" type! The metamorphosis from the familiar every day life to life on the course is an abrupt one—deliberately so. At the end of the day, as the group members snuggle down into double sleeping bags listening to the crackle of an open fire, or the rustle of the wind in the trees, certainly every participant feels him or herself to be "Outward Bound."

During the first part of the ten day course, the only distance travelled is from the Sunday River Inn to Ketchum—onto property recently acquired by the state. But there is much to be learned, for an important aspect of the course is that by the end, each group is capable of managing its own affairs, with little reference to instructors. Thus during the first four days, the emphasis is on teaching the necessary skills for safe travel in the hills: snowshoeing, skiing, how to select campsites, which wood to use as kindling and which wood will burn longest and hottest, how to cook, how to find water, the art of navigating with map and compass, the basics of emergency care, how to dress properly and regulate the body's temperature, how to recognize weather patterns, and so on.

In Ketchum, the pace of the course slackens somewhat. On day 5, each person is taken out and an isolated place off the trail is selected for solo. With food, basic shelter making materials, clothing and sleeping bag, each soloist is on his or her own for 36 hours. For many, it is an anxious time, for most it is a unique experience, and for all it is a novel and often incredible experience. Staff, of course, stay in the area in case of emergency, and each soloist is visited twice a day—just to make sure. But a sense of isolation is important, and when the groups reconvene after two days, the sense of group cohesion, and the joy of being back together again reaches a new peak. Each group is then ready for the final challenge.

On the final part of the course, the idea is to climb one of the higher peaks in the area. Of course, Old Speck is the ultimate target, but Goose Eye, and Sunday River Whitecap offer excellent alternatives. The trip is undertaken on snowshoes, and the sense of accomplishment and exhilaration of standing on the top of one of Maine's highest peaks in the middle of winter is often reward enough for a hard struggle.

After that, all that remains is to drop down to Grafton Notch, drive back to the Inn for a thorough clean-up—of both equipment and bodies—a final cup of coffee, and then farewells to new found friends before the long journey home. Such farewells are often emotional: a friendship which has formed under such conditions, of shared difficulty and experience tends to be a deep one, and is often a lasting one. That, too, is one important aspect of the course.

Having exploded the myth about a survival school, it is important to explode a few other myths. The first one should be in answer to the question, "who can do it?" Often, people think it is only for the young or the very fit or the very able. Such is, indeed, far from the truth! Outward Bound always assumes no knowledge, so that teaching begins with the basics and progresses logically at the individuals own pace. Both men and women do the course: the oldest person who has done the course was a 73 year old woman! The minimum age, except in special cases or especially designed programs, is 16½ years. And, of course, Outward Bound is a non discriminatory organization: indeed, it is important to get the most heterogeneous mixture in each group, so that people of all walks of life, age, ethnic origin, religious persuasion, and sex are all working together. Lastly, the course sounds like a lot of hard work, and an off-hand comment revolves around how much enjoyment there is in the course. Naturally, there is hard work, but it is also fun; laughter tends to be spontaneous, shared, loud and wholesome. Truly, the sense of fun and adventure and aliveness when sitting round a fire after a hard day in the hills, whilst successfully defying the worst that Maine's winter can bring—that sense has to be experienced to be appreciated.

Outward Bound is a non-profit organization. Last year, Hurricane Island fund raised over one thousand dollars to support the program. Much of that money goes to scholarships—many people cannot afford $750 for a 26 day or $400 for a ten day course, and the aim is to make the courses available to everyone, regardless of financial standing.

The Bethel Hurricane Island Outward Bound has rented a house on Elm Street to serve as its winter base. Program Director Jeff Parsons would be happy to answer any questions. Telephone — 824-3339.

How Much Hot Water?

One of the items frequently overlooked when remodeling or buying a new home, is the capacity of the hot water heater. First notice of this oversight normally is discovered while under a hot shower when it turns ice-cold prematurely. But, then it is too late. So, here's a short course on the subject.

The capacity of storage water heaters is rated in two ways and is usually imprinted on the nameplate of the tank. One number tells you the capacity of the tank, and the other number shows the recovery rate per hour. The sum of the two numbers gives you the number of gallons of hot water a tank can supply in one hour.

A tank of 50 gallons capacity with a recovery rate of 40 gallons will supply 90 gallons an hour which should be plenty for a family of five in a home with two baths and an automatic dishwasher and clothes-washer. A family of four without the dishwasher should be able to get by on a 30 or 40 gallon tank with 30 gallon recovery.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at EARLY REAL ESTATE, 60 Main St., Bethel. Phone: 824-2122, 824-2579. We're here to help!

SANTA VISITS BETHEL

On Sunday, Dec. 18, the Bethel Lions Club hosted a Children's Christmas Party at the American Legion Hall.

During the afternoon, over 100 children were captivated by the magical illusions of Jeff Mills and Scott Wight who put on a super show. Jeff's in the trunk—No Scott's in the trunk! How do they do that?

Santa Claus was on hand to talk to the children and to listen to their Christmas requests. Each child was presented with a candy cane and a small gift package from Santa.

After the show, punch and cookies
were served by Lions members and their wives.

The Lions Club would like to thank the Bethel IGA, Saga Food Service, Clukey's Pharmacy and Brown's Variety for their generous donations to help make this party successful.

The Bethel Lions Club is especially busy during this holiday season helping in the community in various ways. Happy Holidays to all of you from all of us.

—Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.—

Mike Yarnell widened the road at the intersection at the top of Mill Hill recently. The school bus followed example. Several from past personal experience would agree that the turn is tricky because of the degree of turn, road contour and slope and advise very slow speeds.

Earl and Lucille Largesse and Simonne Lavalley attended a party at the Balsams given by the management for employees.

Laurie Bergeron and Kathy stayed overnight with their parents
one day last week.

Mike Largesse was home from end.

I wish you all a very pleasant and meaningful Christmas and will add my hopes and prayers that the weather is fine especially for those traveling.

HOW TO GET ALONG

There will be a different kind of TV Special this Christmas. It is a light, warm, and sometimes humorous—approach to applying the real meaning of Christmas to every day human relationships.

The program is called "Love Thy Neighbor," and features actress
Jean Stapleton; the Reverend Dr.
Paul Murray, North Carolina Episcopal priest; North Carolina State University Chancellor, John Caldwell; Methodist minister, The Rev.
Thatcher Jordan; and Marylou

ing" project. They announced a craft table at a future date.

On Jan. 10 at the Congregational Church a screening clinic will be held from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., sponsored by the Androscoggin Home Health Service Inc. Two
"outreach" workers were present,
Verna Swan and Pearl Peaslee.

Corra Bennett gave her report of get well cards to Bertha Thurston, Marjorie Swan, Dorothy Abbott, Wallace Coolidge and David Foster. Birthday cards to Pearl Tibbets, Adeline Dexter and Edna York.

Christmas baskets to members in nursing homes and shut-ins will be packed and delivered. Thank you to all who gave generously for this annual event. Rose Taylor was awarded the quilt and Agnes Haines the afghan.

Music followed the meeting with Leona Curtis presiding at the piano, with Angelo Onofrio and his banjo, plus Elva Morrison on the violin, playing old familiar songs and Christmas carols. Roy Cummings served as Santa and gifts were exchanged. A most pleasant Christmas shared by all. Pearl Tibbets, Madge Vogt, Rena Abbott, Maggie Lowell and Alice McAllister were able to be with the group.

Thank you to Dorothy and Angelo for the tree. A letter from Dorrie Colombe was read. She is now in Chicago. A Christmas card signed by all to Bertha Thurston, now at Ledgewood, West Pa-

SMOKE DETECTORS BEST WAY TO SAVE LIVES IN RESIDENTIAL FIRES

The Maine State Fire Marshal
said smoke detectors are the best way to save lives in residential fires.

"Smoke detectors save families
from certain tragedy by the early warning provided by residential smoke detectors—because they work, as proven in testing laboratories and in those real life situations where they had to perform," said Captain Donald M. Bis-set, State Fire Marshal, Maine Department of Public Safety.

There are two basic types of residential smoke detectors, said Capt. Bisset, ionization and photoelectric.

The ionization detector uses a very small amount of radioactive material to produce electrically charged materials called ions.

The radiation source in ionization detectors is not a hazard.
Before the detectors are placed on the market, the U. S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission performs a radiation safety analysis to determine that detectors meet safety requirements. In addition, Consumers Union has conducted independent studies and confirmed that there is no radiation danger from ionization detectors.

The photoelectric detector uses either an incandescent light bulb or a light-emitting diode (LED) to

Speaker, violinist with the Boston Symphony. Music is also provided by folksinger Larry Groce.

This program is produced by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and is presented as a public service by Channel 8, Mt.
Washington TV at 11:30 a. m. on Christmas Day.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST
The Bethel Nativity Pageant was indeed a beautiful and inspiring display. Participants at this "City of David, Bethlehem" wore colorful costumes—all portraying the birth of Christ: God in human form. From the gatekeepers, to the angels, shepherds, wise men, and the choir. Then there was Mary and Joseph—Mary astride a donkey on her way to the inn
where the Christ Child was to be born.

Mary on a donkey—strange is it not, that a donkey should be used of the Lord to bring His Son to the inn—a lowly manger
for a bed and later use a donkey to carry Him—Jesus—as a grown man upon His triumphal entry into Jerusalem (Luke Chapter 19—Mark Chapter 11). "The people spread garments and branches on the roadway, they went before Him and cried, saying: 'Hosanna; Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord!'"

Even as the multitudes following sang the same—it would not be long before the crowds would angrily shout "Crucify Him—Crucify Him!"—and kill Him they did!

This is why the Christ Child was brought into this sinful world, to save sinners, that through His preaching and His death on the Cross where He offered Himself as a blood and sin sacrifice for me and you (see Luke 24: 46, 47) —

for thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and thus to rise from the dead the third day;
and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem; "to every city and place" (Luke 10:1) Just as the Choir sang "Go Tell it on the Mountain, that Jesus Christ is born."

The Pageant was tremendous—we hope and pray that many asked Christ to be, in truth and sincerity,
their own personal Lord.

That's why He was born—lived and died, having rose again where He sits at the right hand of God,
—that we may die to Him, to live joyously now and when we are called home, to live forever with Him.

"And there shall be no night
there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light; and they shall reign for ever and ever." (Re. 22:5); verse 16 says: I Jesus have sent mine angel to testify unto these things in the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, and the bright and morning star."

"The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen." vs.
21.

A Talk with God at Christmas Time

Dear God — I just want to talk with you, to thank you for the wondrous gift of a new life you have given to me.

How is it, Father — that you knew exactly what I needed when I was low and oh, so unhappy? There was no one that could help me, I did not have much of this world's good, things were hard, — all around me there were people like me looking for the answer to things — and then — one day I heard a song "Oh Jesus—Lord and Savior." Who? Lord and savior? I asked myself — That little child born in a manger 2000 years ago?, the one the shepherds and wise men came to see?

Then I heard it was you — yourself that came to live among people and you would tell the story of how we should follow you. It was then at Christmas time when I was alone with no one — I bowed my head and asked you to help me, to teach me of the things I must know — I found it oh! so simple, just to talk with you. I didn't see you, but I knew you were there! and so it was I asked you to forgive me of the things you did not like, and, oh! they were so many, and some I don't want to remember! I asked you to let me be yours, and that you would be my God, my Lord.

Then things changed, gradually. I found life a little bit better and I read the Bible, The Book of John, and I found it had a lot more meaning to me I never knew before, and I thanked you — my life changed so much and grew better — my family saw something different and smiles came my way.

And then I knew! You are mine, and I am yours,
now I know why you, Jesus came, to bring people to you,
oh! how I thanked you every day.

Now I must tell others. Oh, dear friends, listen, please listen — won't someone listen? There's a new life for you!
There's a Joy so full, you can feel it! And to know I'll be with my Jesus when He calls me home!

Thank you Lord, please let me tell my family, my friends and those who aren't my friends yet.

I love you Jesus!

From Augusta

by R. L. Bergeron

For the past week the bribery trial of former State Treasurer, Norman K. Ferguson, and Fairview Wine owners, John and Anthony Jannace, has again brought to light the lobbying efforts under the dome in Augusta. It is the fourth such trial in 50 years.

What instigated this latest court action? Some suggest an over-zealous legislator trying to make a name for himself, others feel it was a misconstrued understanding of a well-meaning offer made by an aging old man. However it started, it ended at 4:30 p. m. Saturday when the jury of six women and six men found the three defendants innocent on all seven counts of conspiracy and bribery.

While covering this story, from the floor of the House to its recent conclusion, I have talked to many lobbyists and politicians. The consensus of both groups... Democrats and Republicans alike... was a hesitancy to believe the former treasurer guilty of such charges. Not an attorney we interviewed felt there were grounds that were actionable. They felt it was a case of an accusation that had gotten out of hand and the State was being pressured to prosecute.

"ADVENTURES IN ATTITUDES" WORKSHOPS HELD FOR HUMAN SERVICES PERSONNEL.

Downeast Dynamics recently presented three 3-day workshops for the personnel of the Division of Hospital Services and Medicaid Surveillance of the Department of Human Services at the Sunday River Inn. The "Adventures in Attitudes" program was administered by Marcia and David Denison with the objectives of helping all Division personnel realize and develop their potential, improve human relations, and develop positive communications within the Division. The response of the participants was very enthusiastic, both in terms of the program and the hospitality of the Sunday River Inn. Many left with the intent of returning to pursue their new found interest in cross country skiing.

This is the same "Adventures in Attitudes" program that Marcia Denison will be offering at Telstar Regional High School, one evening a week for 10 weeks, starting in January. Anyone interested in information about the program should contact Marcia Denison at 824-2075.

SEVEN POINTS SEPARATE LEAVITT/TELSTAR AT FINISH.

Stuart Child and Scott MacLean keyed a third quarter rally last Thursday which brought Leavitt from 10 points back to even with the visiting Telstar Rebels and allowed a fired-up Hornet team to record its first basketball win in almost two years. Outscoring Telstar 20-13 in the fourth quarter, Leavitt won the twice postponed MVC Mountain Division game 77-70.

Four Rebel players hit double figures, but a lack of depth hurt down the stretch. Richard led Telstar with 21 points. Bob Seames added 14, Dan Cummings 13, and Mark Kendall 11.

Besides MacLean's 19 and Child's 14, John True led Leavitt with 15.

LIVERMORE IS 88-74 WINNER OVER TELSTAR ON FRIDAY.

Visiting Livermore got its fast break working early and hopped out to a quick start on Telstar in Friday Mountain Valley League basketball, landing a 88-74 victory though having to fight off a Telstar recovery in the final period.

The Andies weren't missing from the field as they jumped to a 31-point first quarter to lead by 11, and they were 18 to the good at intermission.

Telstar narrowed the gap to seven in a third period rush and drew within four points at 72-68 with six minutes to go. The losers had to be aggressive and drew fouls that allowed Livermore to finish strong and account for the final margin.

Ted Kennedy spilled 26 points into the hoop for the winners but had excellent support from Scott Pulsifer, Marc Leclerc and Scott Therien in the shooting department, while Telstar's top hand was Dan Cummings, who netted 23 counters. Bob Seames added 14.

Livermore also won the JV contest.

HUSKIES CHEW UP LAKERS, 87-53

Host Gould Academy employed the fast break and pressure defense last Thursday night to down a taller Rangeley team in a Western Maine Class "D" basketball game. It was the second straight win for the Huskies, who had lost their first three, while the Lakers are now 1-3.

Rangeley outbounded Gould 47-37, but the Huskies used their speed to good advantage. They built up a 25-10 lead after the first quarter and never looked back.

Gary Byrd led four Gould players in double figures with 19 points. Vance Anderson followed Byrd with 14 points while Keith Bartlett and Chuck Hurd added 12 apiece. Russell Barrett netted 13 points to pace the Lakers, followed by Alan Jeffries with 12 and Christian Raymond with 10.

It was Gould's last game until after Christmas vacation, Jan. 6 against NYA.

A Century Ago

— From The Oxford Democrat —
December 25, 1877:

Bethel — The late heavy rains damaged the roads badly. Mr. H. Ripley's dam above the mill was washed out.

The Methodist Society will hold a Christmas festival in their church on Christmas Eve. All are cordially invited to be present.

The Ladies' sewing circle at South Bethel are to have entertainment and Christmas Tree at the school-house on Thursday evening, 27th inst. A good time is expected.

Rev. B. Foster recently killed a pig seven months old that tipped the scales at 350 lbs. Who trots out a better one?

The ladies connected with the M. E. Sewing Circle met with Mrs. A. O. Straw last Wednesday evening. Some over forty were present, and a good time was had. The circle will meet next with Mrs. Cyrene S. Littlehale, on Thursday evening, 27th inst.

The Reform Club held an interesting meeting last Sabbath at 3 p. m., in the Congregational vestry.

Rev. Mr. Mills, who has supplied the pulpit in the Congregational Church the past summer, on the account of poor health has gone to his home in Boston to spend the winter. The society are looking for his return in the spring. He is a man of brilliant mind and fine scholarship, and is much beloved by all.

Horatio R. Godwin, Esq. has erected an elegant boarding house on his farm at North Bethel. The house when completed will be a superior one, probably the best in all its appointments in town. The building is two stories high with a French roof. The rooms are all high posted and command delightful views on every side. There is not an unpleasant room in the house, and we trust the summer tourist will find it a grand place for comfort and pleasure.

Mr. Godwin in company with Dana Brooks has commenced to erect a boarding house 70 feet long 40 feet wide, two stories high at the Middle Dam location known as Angler's Retreat to accommodate fishermen.

Though we had a favorable fall, farmers have not made so much

Joe Farnum has returned home from the Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Mr. H. C. Andrews is getting along finely with his new house on Church Street.

Hon. Enoch Foster, Jr., has put on an addition to his stable.

We were pained to note the death of Augustine W. Chapman, formerly of Bethel, who died at Worcester, Mass., October 30th, aged 24 years. DAY CARE PROGRAM RECEIVES GRANT TO HELP FAMILIES UNDER STRESS

Tri-County Family Day Care, operated by Diocesan Human Relations Services, Inc., in Lewiston, has recently been awarded a Title II Grant to provide transportation to and from Day Care Facilities for children of families under stress. Often, Day Care Services along with counseling for the parents, can result in the family's resolving their problems and avoiding Foster Care for the children. Carolyn Davis, the Director of the Project, explained, "Sometimes these families could have used Day Care, both to help their children developmentally, and relieve the stress at home, but could not in the past because of lack of transportation, especially in the rural areas. Now Transportation services will be available in Androscoggin, Oxford and Franklin Counties."

The Title II Grant, which will enable Tri-County Family Day Care to pay Volunteer Drivers 13 cents per mile and pay for the increased liability insurance coverage for the drivers, took effect 12/5/77. The award is an outgrowth of increased public awareness of Child Abuse and Neglect and the formation of the Androscoggin Community Coordinating Committee formed last Spring to coordinate Children's Services in the area. The A-CCC has representatives from all major service organizations in Androscoggin County and is interested in seeing similar committees in the other Counties.

Persons interested in becoming Volunteer Drivers for the Transportation Project should contact Mrs. Davis at the Diocesan Human

Chiropractic research holds great promise

While the general public may not know of it, chiropractors are well aware of an intensive program of chiropractic research which has been going on at the University of Colorado. Headed by Dr. C. C. Suh, one of the world's most respected specialists on spinal biomechanics, the program has some very ambitious goals. The results to date, even at their relatively early stage of the research, are exciting.

Dr. Suh and his associates defined for themselves the size of their task: finding out exactly why chiropractic works.

While Dr. Suh is studying the mechanics of the spine, other

GILEAD WOMEN HOLD CHRISTMAS MEETING

The Gilead Women's club met on Tuesday, Dec. 13 at the home of Anita Ferrand. They conducted their regular meeting and discussed more about the skating rink. It was decided to call a few people who might have children that will volunteer to take turns cleaning off the skating rink after snow storms so it can be kept in use all winter. Also it was decided to send for some pens which the ladies will be selling to raise money.

The business meeting adjourned and the ladies then held their gift exchange. Lin Chapman was "Santa." Then the ladies had refreshments served on a beautifully decorated table by Nancy Coriveau and Georgia MacArthur. The centerpiece was a church with Christmas trees all around made out of graham crackers also there was a lovely chocolate log cake, many other delicious goodies were served with coffee, tea and eggnog. Anita Ferrand took pictures of the church centerpiece for the club scrapbook. The ladies were pleased to have Mrs. Anna Belanger present for the Christmas meeting.

The next regular meeting will also be an extension meeting. The subject will be mixes—prepare your own—and dollarwise meals. The leader is Carol Taylor. The meeting will be on Jan. 17 at 7:30 p. m. at her home.

Relations Services Office, 382 Sabbathus Street, Lewiston, Maine, 784-0157.

specialists on his research team are conducting investigations into spinal nerve roots.

One researcher who specializes in chemistry has found that when you compress a nerve, and that's what happens when a vertebra moves out of its proper position—the nerve will start to produce toxic substances, a poison in the body. This, they have found, is spread over a much larger area of the body than anyone had suspected.

Of course, chiropractors have been saying in broader terms this same thing for years. They have seen case after case where conditions of poor health, seemingly unrelated to the spine, are improved drastically by restoring one or more out-of-place vertebrae to their natural positions.

Mrs. Phyllis Hyam passed away at Stephen's Memorial Hospital, Dec. 17, after an illness of several months. Our most sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. Hyam and all the family. She had lived here less than two years but she will be missed by all who knew her. She was a very good neighbor. Always willing to help others. Sadness is especially hard at the Christmas season.

Word from the Kalinowski's tell us they went to Florence, Mass., to a supper and dance and it took them three hours to make the trip home to Connecticut as they got caught in an ice storm and the roads were slick so they had to just barely crawl. 2000 cars were backed up and their car was one of them. To the Editor and Staff a most joyous Christmas and happy New Year, and also to my readers.

Mrs. Ethel Files will have for breakfast Christmas morning her five children and families.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stearns will have for her Christmas dinner Sunday, her two sons of Naples and Portland and their families.

Mrs. Mary Fox was delivering Christmas boxes to several of the Senior Citizens Saturday. They were given by the Community District Council of Fryeburg. They were greatly appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanwood Nelson will join the Laffins at Sweden Sunday for dinner and an exchange of gifts. They expect a large gathering.

Mrs. Helen Grover will have a large gathering at her home for dinner and an exchange of gifts.

South Woodstock

Olive Davis, Corres.

The biggest news of the season is Christmas shopping. The residents in this area have been to Lewiston, Auburn, Berlin, Rumford, Portland, hunting for just the right gift for a certain party on their shopping list. Many return to their home areas to find just what they wanted right in their local stores, thanks to our local stores who are thinking to serve the public.

Everyone is busy so I haven't too much news. As for me: Mrs. Harris Hathaway spent Monday here. We put up 12 Christmas

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Nelson and little Christa of Winslow will spend the holiday at his home here. His aunt, Christine Nelson of West Medford, Mass., will join them.

The Christmas supper was well attended. A nice program was given by Mary Fox assisted by Mrs. Sarah Grover.

Several from here attended the Cantata at North Waterford Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Doughty will be guests of her nephew, Glen Farrington, and family, in South Paris Sunday. A large gathering is expected.

boxes for 14 of our Grange friends and delivered them in the afternoon. The way the snow has piled down this month we had a worry as to how we would ever get around on time so decided better early than late. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Barnett, South Paris, called on me Thursday afternoon bringing Christmas gifts which I put beside my chimney. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant called Saturday and left a bag of gifts on my kitchen table. I was sorry not to be home but Little Brooks took me to Lecturer's Conference in Augusta, Saturday where I got instructions on the Lecturer's work for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Thurlow have moved into their new home on the North Paris Road. They have a nice view overlooking the Andrews valley area.

Olive Davis called on Audrey Hadley Sunday.

Merry Christmas to all.

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —

It is dark tonight, and over the valley rolls up the winter stars. Night is very beautiful. It is the other half of the tremendous wheel of day; bringing beauty, fulfillment and rest. Clouds come forming islands of obscurity in a marvelous space and stars. The Milky Way bridges the heavens and the earth.

I stood alone at the top of the driveway. The stillness of the evening was profound. A faint wind, more like a moving coolness, passed down the hill from time to time. It was a contrast from my day walk this week. Then I roamed by the soft drifts, and inhaled the keen frosty air. At time I involuntarily narrowed my eyes from the dazzling, glitter of the snow to admire the hue of the sky above the forest.

As I walked along the road the hills were silver white; a rhythm of shadows were weaving across them grasping at the cold solidity of the gray ledges on the mountains under their blankets of snow.

Above the pond and heading for Noyes Mountain came a lazy sailing bird. Just as I began to think how graceful he glided, he turned on the power and became a stunt plane. I declare he did wingovers, dives and tumbles. Then having shown his acrobatics he went to soaring again. He left, as ravens do, with his hoarse call, "Kruuuck! Ky-r-r-r-rukki!" No wonder small birds are afraid of him.

When following the road I'm always conscious of traffic. It is more rewarding to strike off on your own even though it may mean aches and fatigue. I had much rather wander through the woods but today I couldn't. So I just enjoyed all I could see in the sunshine reaching out.

The valley seemed to broaden in the brightness. One should travel with imagination and enjoy the scenery.

The ledges were covered with icy stillness except in one place. Here I stopped to listen to the bell-like music, small chimes, some where between the huge icicles and the gray stones. One could almost imagine a harpist touching strings beyond a closed door. I stayed for a time to listen to the bright variations for there is nothing more thrilling than sound such as this in so magic a setting. On a branch high above a squirrel hung perilously like a trapeze performer. He calculated his distance and sprang to another tree, safely.

A day like this I love the snow. The silence and the simplicity of the landscape was soothing. On the hummocks there were shadows, light and shade in a variety. These are winter pictures to remember.

"This is the magic time of year. This is when memories seem to appear. Though blossoms vanish and chill fills the air. There is still beauty to see everywhere." Caroline S. Kotowicz

Another first aid class will start on Jan. 10. Anyone interested in taking this course should contact John Greenleaf. Still needed are ambulance attendants to cover 24 hours a day seven days a week.

Refreshments and a social hour followed the meeting. Lyn Bristol brought her guitar and entertained the group.

CHAIRMEN OF
13th ANNUAL LIVING NATIVITY
EXPRESS THANKS

On Sunday, Dec. 18, Bethel's 13th Annual Living Nativity took place on the Common. It happened only because of the help of such people as Karen and Eric Paul and their son, Aaron, Alison Davis, Joann and Elizabeth Vrabec, Joe Taylor, Joe Robiller, Bill Lynch, Ted and Todd Davis, Steve Morrill, Susan Vieni, Edward and Jill Gammon, Bob and Lisa MacKenney, Bobby and Nancy Lea Chadbourne, Grace and Beth Douglass, Tammy Reed, Kara and Kathy O'Donnell, John Mills, Ted Reed, Troy, Charlotte, Mark and Barbara Bennett, Scott, Ralph and Eric Hoyt, Jody Shimamura, Laurie Vogt, Bob Howe, Don Clymer, Rev. Tom Caton, Chris Olson, Christian Robiller, Christine, Ed and Sandra Greenleaf, Marc Packard, Peter Keniston, Blake Mackay, Emily Saunders, Kay Chadbourne, Diane Kanten, Margaret Record, Muriel Butters and Linda Davis.

Our special thanks to John Laban and Dick Douglass for all their efforts in transporting animals to and from the Common. Animals came from Tim Carter, John Laban, Bill Lynch, Dick Douglass, and Charlie Coffin of West Paris.

Thanks to Mrs. Violet Newton for storing the fencing and the Bethel Town Garage and employees for transportation and storage of the stable. The YACC employees of the Evans Notch Ranger District of the U. S. Forest Service were a tremendous help in setting up the stable and the corral, as well as obtaining trees and greenery for decoration.

A super thank you to Bob Davis for his efforts in clearing the mountains of snow on the Common. Also to Mike O'Donnell and his Jeep for trying valiantly. Telstar was most generous in allowing us the use of their lighting and sound equipment. George Nickerson, the Man from GAN, did an outstanding job of returning the Common to normal.

A special thank you goes to Lyn Bristol, who, with her overabundance of enthusiasm, directed the choir. There were so many who participated that it's difficult to list names. Mr. Fred Werner did a beautiful job of narrating the Christmas Story.

Between performances we were warmed by hot chocolate, coffee and cookies served by the Lions' ladies. Stan Howe was kind enough to let us use the Moses Mason House for our organizing.

After all the work was done, we were all treated to a most delicious meal at the Congregational Church. Our thanks to Marcia Denison for utilizing her talents in organizing the Rotary Wives, who prepared and served the food. Tom Campbell of the IGA and Clukey's Pharmacy exhibited the Christmas Spirit in their generous donations to this dinner.

A very special person who brings it all together is Sue Farrar, an incomparable director. She started it all 13 years ago and seems to offer renewed enthusiasm each year.

We thank all our friends in Bethel who were so helpful not only with time and effort, but with moral support, in making this a most exciting experience for us.

THANK YOU BETHEL!

MRS. DOCK IS DISCUSSION
LEADER AT ADULT ED.
PSYCHOLOGY CLASS

The S. A. D. #44 Adult Education Psychology class was fortunate to have Phyllis Dock of Bethel as a guest discussion group leader on Dec. 15. Currently, Mrs. Dock is Acting Director of Oxford County Community Services, Children's Services Program, which includes Head Start and Day Care. The focus of the class meeting was upon Child Abuse and Neglect, a particular interest area for Mrs. Dock. Also discussed were parenting problems and something was learned about the community resources available to people.

Mrs. Dock's background is varied and interesting. She was born in Locke Mills and has spent much of her life in the Bethel area. She received her R. N. degree from New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston, with a specialty in Neurology and Psychiatry. Briefly in the Navy, she then married Norman Dock and was a homemaker for 20 years, raising five children and Morgan horses. Her successful book, "Little Hawk," now in its second printing was a creative expression of these years.

She returned to nursing only to discover that the majority of the patients with physical illnesses suffered from emotional stress stemming from social pressures. Consequently, she entered school again, majoring this time in Sociology, Social Psychology with a specialty in group interaction. Her degree in Human Relations was obtained from the University of New Hampshire in 1975, and since then Mrs. Dock has been involved with the Head Start Program.

It was during a training workshop led by Dr. Vincent DeFrancis of the American Humane that she became aware of the extent and scope of child abuse and neglect. She has conducted many workshops for the Maine Head Start Resource Center and has given many lectures on the subject.

Mrs. Dock feels that much work is needed at the community level in order to develop support systems which would enable people who have a great deal to offer, a chance to help others. The Psychology Class believes it was fortunate to have someone of Mrs. Dock's caliber in this area.

HALL-DALE IS 11-POINT VICTOR
OVER TELSTAR: TUESDAY

Visiting Hall-Dale drew within a game of the leaders in the Mountain Valley League's Mountain Division by taking Tuesday's basketball decision from Telstar. Final score was 75-64 with Telstar gaining in both the third and fourth periods after running 17 points behind at the half.

Scott Woodside boomed 29 points for the winners, whose ultimate margin was entirely at the foul line as Telstar equaled the visiting squads field goal total. Kendall Kemiston dropped in 10 ringers for Telstar, which fell nine points back at the quarter and was behind 16-3 in the second for totals of 34-17.

A 21-20 pickup in the third round left Telstar still 16 points in the rear, and in the final stanza the Rebels cut five more from the separation with a 26-21 charge. In front 22 points at the most, Hall-Dale saw its advantage melt to four points with 58 seconds to play, at which stage Telstar came up with a series of fouls on the chance of getting the ball but Hall-Dale converted five out of six tries on the one-and-ones. For the contest Hall-Dale was 17 out of 21 at the line to Telstar's six of 15.

Scott Berry, junior reserve, came off the bench to contribute a dozen rebounds two blocks and a steal and an assist in three periods of action as he participated prominently in the drive that cut the gap to 64-60 in the last minute.

Hall-Dale jaywalked also won, 62-24, with Mike Allen the top shooter for the winners with 12 courters.
